LONDON, June 22 (INS)—A rift in the family life of the Countess Kurt Von Haugwitz-Reventlow, the former Barbara Hutton of Woolworth 5 and 10 millions fame, loomed today as the background of a sequence of dramatic events which took the beautiful American heiress to drab Bow street police court.

From Magistrate Theodore W. Fry, she obtained official permission to proceed with legal action believed to be in connection with the future of her young son, Lance, whom the London Daily Mail earlier said had been threatened with kidnaping.

Intimate friends of the couple, however, divulged there had been a dispute between the Countess and her Danish husband over the education and upbringing of

Nazis Jail 60 Priests In Austrian 'Purge'

VIENNA, June 22 (INS)—For the first time since Adolf Hitler annexed Austria to Germany a widespread Nazi "purge" of the Austrian Catholic clergy was revealed today.

Reliable reports indicated at least 60 Austrian priests have been arrested and some of them already sentenced to prison on Nazi charges of alleged "immorality."

The new drive, comparable to that conducted against the Catholic clergy in Germany proper some months ago, was expected to revive the critical controversy between the Nazi regime and the Holy See, which has brought Chancellor Hitler and Pope Pius to the verge of a diplomatic break.

In addition to the arrests on the "immorality" charges, two of Austria's leading priests were taken into custody on accusations of purported political offenses against the Nazi regime established over this country last March.

Official Catholic circles named the prominent political prisoners as Doctor Hoen, a member of the Vienna Consistor Council, and Doctor Hollensteiner, former leader of the once-powerful but now extinguished Christian Socialist party.

Doctor Hollensteiner was an intimate friend of the two former Austrian Chancellors Wilhelm Seipel and Engelbert Dollfuss.

News of the arrests among Catholic clergymen created a deep stir in this new German province, the population of which is preponderantly Catholic.

It was learned that Father Wilhelm Sassel, the monk of Klosterneuberg, was arrested by the Gestapo (Nazi secret police) several weeks ago and was sentenced to serve seven months in prison in the first of Austria's Nazi "purge" trials.

Four other monks, tried with Father Sassel, were sentenced to serve shorter terms in prison.

Nazi Puzzle: Chiefs Vanish

By KARL H. VON WIEGAND

PARIS, June 22—Disappearance from public life of three outstanding figures in the National Socialist regime of Germany in circumstances of much mystery continues to stir not only foreign diplomatic quarters, but circles close to the German army as well.

Those who have vanished from public in recent weeks are Field Marshal von Blomberg, minister of war; Franz von Papen, Hitler's special ambassador to Vienna, and Colonel-General Baron von Fritsch, commander-in-chief of the German army.

Von Blomberg was one of the first officers who became an ardent Nazi and so unquestioningly devoted to Adolf Hitler that army circles often were scornful of him.

Recently he surprised the army, the government and the public by getting married. Hitler and Field Marshal Hermann Goering, minister of air, were the witnesses. Forty-eight hours later he resigned.

Almost simultaneously the public was startled by the resignation of von Fritsch, commander-in-chief of the army and conceded Germany's Soldier Number One.

When von Fritsch went nearly a score of generals resigned. The field marshal's baton was offered him. He declined it.

Just an 'Incident' May Be 'Real War'

TOKYO, June 22 (INS)—A formal declaration of war on China is being weighed by the Japanese government, it was reported here today by the authoritative newspaper Nichi Shimbun.

Thus far the hostilities between the Japanese and Chinese have been referred to here merely as the "China incident" or the "China affair."

Warplane Sinks 2 British Ships

VALENCIA, Spain, June 22 (AP)—Two British ships were sunk just outside Valencia harbor today by a lone sky raider in a continuation of the long series of warplane attacks on foreign shipping in ports of Government Spain.

The 3054-ton Sunion, British ship formerly of Greek registry, struck by a incendiary and explosive bombs, burned furiously for six hours and then settled to the bottom.

Previously the 4789-ton freighter Thorpness, shattered by an aerial torpedo, had gone down with 7000 tons of grain.

All the Sunion's crew of 32, including a German observer for the non-intervention committee, were taken off safely.

Flames from the Sunion's burning cargo lighted the whole roads.

After torpedoing the Thorpness, the plane returned and machine-gunned her, splintering the captain's cabin.

Today's attacks brought to 54 the total of airplane attacks on British ships since the Spanish war started—nearly half in the last three months.

Nazi Edict Defied by Lone Jew

By PIERRE J. HUSS

International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, June 22—A lone American Jew, standing solidly on his rights as a citizen of the United States, today took resolute action to test to the limit Field Marshal Hermann Goering's decree calling for registration of Jewish fortunes in Germany.

With the deadline set for June 30 for foreign Jews resident in Germany to reveal their resources in excess of $2000, the American, whose identity was not revealed, affixed to his declaration a sworn affidavit specifically invoking as an "American citizen" all the rights and guarantees accorded to other American residents of Germany under the German-American pact of friendship.

VIOLATE PACT

The stand closely paralleled that of the American State Department in the recent formal protest lodged with Germany. The protest charged discrimination, in violation of the pact. Germany contended, however, that no discrimination was involved, since all foreign Jews were equally affected.

The American established a line of procedure for other American Jews in Germany, by which they can comply with the Goering decree and avoid confiscation of their funds, yet reject the decree in principle.

Through use of the designation "American citizen," this first Jew repudiated any right of the German government to classify Americans into racial categories.

The Goering decree was intended to release Jewish funds which, it was charged, were stagnant. Confiscation was the penalty threaten for failure to register.

FORBID VIOLENCE

Fresh pressure was brought against German Jews as a result of the initial failure of the anti-Semitic boycott.

Action today was concentrated on the larger Jewish-owned department stores, where Nazi muscle-men in plain clothes were posted at entrances.

These squads were proving more effective than the "bucket brigades" which painted signs on Jewish shops over the week-end. Violence against potential customers, however, was forbidden.

Franco Starts Clincher Drive

HENDAYE, France, June 22 (AP)—Insurgent advices indicated today Generalissimo Franco was preparing a fresh offensive against Barcelona in the belief a successful drive through Catalonia now would clinch the Spanish civil war.

Running into impenetrable government defenses in the Villarreal sector, insurgents slackened their drive on Valencia.

Steady progress of the government in building a formidable series of fortifications along the coast made the going slower.

Strict military secrecy cloaked the insurgent command's exact plans, but it was believed the new thrust would come through Lerida directly against Barcelona.

Battle Over Artist's Will

Tattered Note of Love

A tattered letter proclaiming the love of Herbert B. Turner, wealthy Gloucester artist, for Miss Mildred T. Copperman, also of Gloucester, was read in Salem Probate Court today. The girl who spent several years abroad as Turner's companion, was 27 years younger than the artist.

Miss Mildred T. Copperman takes stand today in Salem court in fight for $25,000 willed to her by Artist Herbert B. Turner, a bequest Turner's widow and three children are fighting.

Turner's will leaving $25,000 to Miss Copperman is being contested by his widow, Eva Turner, of Brattleboro, Vt., who received $100 and her three daughters $1 each.

SEARCHED 9 DAYS

On the stand for the fourth day, Miss Copperman said she searched for the letter for nine days in his personal files in the Gloucester studio where the pair often worked together.

Miss Copperman said the letter signed by the artist, was addressed to Turner's brothers, Howard and Everett and that it was a "rough first draft" which he later copied and mailed to them.

Dear Howard and Everett—

Billie and I have been what we are to one another this year. She has given me comfort and happiness that I never had before.

I would dearly love to marry her, but it does not seem to be much chance of that at present.

What eats the heart out of me is that in the case of my death, I leave her without a penny. She never asked even for an allowance. What I gave her that way is my own doing. The life of a painter is one of financial strain and in these times there is little chance of a meagre existence. Billie is becoming recognized as having exceptional merit. Auto Czar vs. Woman Judge

Three South Shore police chiefs passed the "lie" to Registrar of Motor Vehicles Frank A. Goodwin today and Goodwin promptly passed it back again.

Police Chiefs Patrick McDonnell of Randolph, John J. Avery of Quincy and Edward Butler of Weymouth denied ever complaining they were "disgusted" with treatment accorded drunken driving cases taken before Judge Gertrude R. Halloran in Quincy court.

Retorted the fiery registrar:

"I have letters right here on my desk from the chiefs. If they deny now what they have said to me in writing, I guess they have cold feet.

"COLD FEET"

"I started this investigation in Quincy because of police complaints. If they have cold feet, it isn't my fault."

In reply to Goodwin's charge, made last night, that convictions for drunkenness in her court were "impossible" Judge Halloran snapped:

"The registrar is a little bit meddlesome. I call them as I see them, without fear or favoritism.

"An arrest is not a conviction. A defendant must be found guilty beyond reasonable doubt."

"Of course I will continue to prosecute in Quincy court," McDonnell said. "The statement that I intend only to report drivers to the registry is false. I have two drunken driving cases to be presented in Quincy court later this week."

Chief Avery said:

"I am not disgusted over treatment accorded my cases in Quincy court. I still will prosecute in that court as always. Also, I will notify the registry of the disposition of cases, as always."

Chief Butler made a similar statement.

MANCHESTER, N. H., June 22—Five-month-old boy twins today baffled nurses at Notre Dame Hospital, where they were treated for injuries suffered in a head-on automobile accident.

Their problem was which was Robert Welch and which was Richard. Nurses said a sister-in-law left the hospital before they could solve the identity problem.

One of the tiny brothers suffered internal injuries while the other was under treatment for cuts and contusions.

At the same hospital was their sister, Blanche Welch, two, unconscious with a fractured skull. The children live at 369 Granite street, Manchester.

Granted $8100 Alimony

DIVORCE WINNER—Mrs. Regina M. Butterfield won suit against Medford surgeon, Dr. Clifford A. Butterfield. Mrs. Butterfield also gained custody of daughter, Jean, 6, shown on left. She was granted alimony of $8100 over a three-year period.

Wife Divorces 'Cruel' Doctor

Allegations of cruel and abusive treatment at the hands of her husband, Dr. Clifford Allen Butterfield, prominent Medford surgeon, won an uncontested divorce decree today for his wife, Mrs. Regina Marie Butterfield, in Middlesex Probate Court.

At a separate support hearing brought by Mrs. Butterfield a few days ago, the doctor declared she had never been his legal wife because his divorce from his first wife in Illinois was invalid.

In the decree handed down today by Judge Arthur E. Beane, Mrs. Butterfield also was given custody of their daughter, Jean Elizabeth, six, and alimony totalling $8100 over a period of three years.

Mrs. Butterfield testified that her husband became cruel and abusive to her a month after their marriage in September, 1930 at Portsmouth, N. H.

"He had a violent temper," she testified, "and was always nagging me. His treatment of me caused me to lose 34 pounds.

"In May, 1937, he knocked me me down when I was about to rise from a chair in the living room."

Miss Doris Carroll of Medford, sister of Mrs. Butterfield, also took the stand in her behalf.

Miss Carroll testified that on one occasion last year, following a violent quarrel at the Butterfield residence on Bradlee road, Medford, she took Mrs. Butterfield and Jean Elizabeth to her home.

FEARED POISON

Miss Carroll told thec ourt that Dr. Butterfield imagined his wife was trying to poison him and that he forced Jean Elizabeth to taste all food served at the table before he ate any.

She testified that while on a visit to the Butterfield summer camp in Maine last year she heard Dr. Butterfield tell his wife "to leave if she didn't like the maid," whose actions were objectionable to Mrs. Butterfield.

Under the alimony stipulations made by Judge Beane, Mrs. Butterfield will received $25 weekly for six months. When the decree becomes absolute, at the end of that period, she will receive $4500 and each year thereafter for three years will receive $1000.

Sweeps Probe Ready for Jury

A single agent took over $100,000 for the Canadian Army and Navy sweepstakes from New Englanders, it was revealed today as Asst. U. S. Atty. Henry M. Leen announced the investigation of the sweeps had reached grand jury action.

The $2,000,000 business flourished in this part of the country for several years until in 1937 a squad of men under Chief Post Office Inspector John J. Breslin seized hundreds of thousands of tickets in the mails.

PWA Pours Spend-Lend Cash Into Local Coffers

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—The Public Works Administration began its 1938 spending-lending program today with allotments of $41,632,717 in grants and $9,021,000 of loans for 291 projects.

Howard A. Gray, assistant administrator, said the 291 projects would involve $92,520,374 of construction. The grants were for 45 per cent of the cost and the loans for 55 per cent.

The difference between the total of loans and grants and total of construction cost, Gray said, would be made up by the applicants.

Six grants fell in the million dollar class but the vast majority were from a few thousand to as much as a half million.

Southbury, Conn., led the list with a grant of $2,576,700 for school construction estimated to cost $5,726,000.

MILLION DOLLAR GROUP

Others in the "million dollar" group were Fort Wayne, Ind., with a grant of $2,322,060 for $5,160,000 of sewerage improvement; Miami, Fla., with a grant of $1,800,000 and a loan of $2,200,000 for harbor development; Jacksonville, Fla., a grant of $1,670,455 for $3,712,122 of school construction; Shelter Island, N. Y., $1,637,181 of grants and $880,000 of loans for highway bridges costing $3,638,181, and Natchez, Miss., grant of $1,125,000 for a $2,500,000 bridge.

New England allotments included:

Attleboro, high school addition, $58,500; Barnstable, harbor dredging, $54,810; Berlin, Ct., sewerage system, $71,730; East Greenwich, R. I., high school, $112,500; East Hampton, Mass., high school addition, $63,000.

They had been approved by President Roosevelt even before he signed the $3,750,000,000 spending-lending bill late yesterday at Hyde Park, N. Y. His pen strokes were the signal for PWA and all federal spending agencies to swing into action with their programs, details of which have been ready for weeks.

PWA construction work will be allocated daily until 2000 projects will have been made public by Friday night.

OLD APPLICATIONS

Public Works officials said this week's projects were being taken from nearly 3000 applications held over from the old PWA program of the past five years.

New applications were expected to bring the total to about 4000, or enough to produce $2,000,000,000 of construction by June 30, 1940.

The Works Progress Administration, which received $1,425,000,000 in the spending-lending bill, also prepared to put new funds into operation, but on a more limited scale.

Work relief rolls, which have been increasing at the rate of about 30,000 persons a week, are near the 2,800,000 average which Administrator Harry Hopkins said he expected to carry with a possible maximum of 3,000,000.

The new funds are supposed to last until next March 1.

Roosevelt to Give Fireside Chat Friday

HYDE PARK, N. Y., June 22 (AP)—President Roosevelt threw into gear today a $3,750,000,000 machine designed to prime commerce and aid the needy, asserting as he acted that industry and agriculture already are improved.

Business—and he included farming in the term—is not and has not been as bad as a lot of people believed it to be, the President said.

He gave out a new commerce department estimate that the national income—the total income of all those earning money—would be slightly more than $60,000,000,000 this year, $5,000,000,000 higher than previous government estimates.

He also announced he would give one of his fireside chats, general in subject, from the White House on Friday at 10:30 p. m. daylight time.

College Pair Man and Wife

Side by side through their college classes for two more years will go pretty Eleanor Agnes Mason of Burlington, Vt., and Philip Harold Hersey of Hingham, it was revealed today—and all with the blessings of the preacher.

For the romance between the two—that began as they sat in the same class and ended in an elopement to Upper Bedford, Quebec, last April 23—was made known to their friends today in a formal announcement made by Mrs. Edgar D. Mason, mother of the bride.

"We got married but we didn't want to tell while college was still going on," young Hersey said today in his mother's home on Hersey road, Hingham.

"You know how it would have been in college to have it known that we were just married."

layout of the house where the doctor was killed. Francis was scheduled to return to the stand later.

He was to be followed by the two star witnesses of the proceedings—young Dwyer, and his avowed sweetheart, pretty Barbara Carroll.

A crowd of more than 500 townspeople thronged about the courthouse although they could not hear the presentation of evidence which is aimed at refuting the youth's previous confessions and the naming of a prominent South Paris man as the actual killer of the aged doctor and his wife.

Pale with prison pallor, Dwyer was to substantiate a 17-page statement, in which he declared he was not alone the night he went to the Paris Hill home of Dr. Littlefield.

If the statement is repeated, the grand jury will be told that another man struck Dr. Littlefield and then choked him to death, while the frightened youth looked on.

Murder of Mrs. Littlefield was committed allegedly by the same man because she knew her husband's slayer, according to the story prepared in evidence.

In the new version, Dwyer's sole part was a fearful trip with the two bodies through New England and into Arlington, N. J., where he was found asleep last November.

Another summoned to testify today was pretty Barbara Carroll, daughter of Deputy Sheriff Francis M. Carroll, the schoolgirl sweetheart of young Dwyer.

Turner's Note Tells Of Love

her canvasses. One never knows the future.

John Ross suggests a way in which she can have something after my death. It is this: I draw from the estate good securities to the value of $15,000 and lock them up in my safe deposit box, the interest to come as usual to the office and to my income account.

To this $15,000 add securities or money from the final settlement of mother's estate due me, or the different payments as they come in before the final.

This should with the $15,000 net $20,000 and then make a will leaving her the entire contents of the said box . . . to the value of $20,000.

This is the honorable thing to do and would lift the great burdens off my shoulders. Should she marry another, I simply could make another will.

She has been devotion itself, well knowing how hopeless it all has been. If Eva (his wife) were well, I would have long since divorced her, for she has not been a wife. For 27 years, she has been a darned poor companion.

In Billie I have a daughter, nurse, and mental companion. One who gives me great love as I love her.

Thus we will proceed to work on the plan as outlined, as I have a right under the terms of the will to draw that amount and more.

After the letter was read into the records, Miss Copperman remained on the stand.

Warn Harvard Men Of 'Uniform Plague'

A warning against the encroachment upon American shores of the "plague of uniformed men" now ruling Europe was sounded today by Wiley E. Mayne, Harvard senior, in the class oration delivered before hundreds of alumni and their friends in Kirkland House triangle.

"The world is stricken by a plague of uniformed men," said Mayne, "who have stamped out the last vestiges of liberalism in Italy, Russia and Germany. They have outlawed the right to speak and teach the truth.

"These uniformed men and the implication of their sudden rise to power are a challenge to every man and woman who graduates in the United States today.

"We must return to our communities, from Maine to California, ready to work quietly and devotedly in the defence of truth and of those democratic principles, which are its strongest bulwark in the world today, lest we return 25 years hence wearing uniforms of a different sort to find that Harvard has become another Heidelberg."

As first marshal, Charles R. Allen, of Greenfield, Mass., conducted the Triangle exercises. Others, who participated with Mayne, were John S. Bainbridge of New York, class poet; Morris Earle of New York, class odist; and Robert W. Snyder of Easton, Pa., class chorister.

The alumni parade to the stadium of 50 classes, garbed in brilliant and varied costumes, and the ensuing battle of confetti between the marchers and the visitors in the stands were other highlights of class day.

The class of 1913, celebrating its silver jubilee, had the traditional honor of leading the colorful line from Kirkland House triangle to the vast outdoor bowl.

SNOW WHITE ROLE

Featured in the picturesque procession was little Barbara Chase, 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Chase of Canton, the 1928 class baby, who portrayed the role of Snow White. Members of the class played the parts of the Seven Dwarfs.

More than 4000 graduates, dating back almost 70 years, converged upon Cambridge for the parade. Alan J. Lowrey, '13, of San Francisco, was the marshal of the day.

OLDEST GRAD

The only one of four living members of the class of '69 to participate in the alumni parade was Norman Fay, Cambridge author, 90 years old.

A snappy marching song, composed by Fay, was being played by the First Corps Cadets band for the first time.

The traditional schedule of stadium exercises called for alumni to stand and cheer the class of 1938 as it enters.

The honor of delivering the ivy oration fell this year to Nathaniel G. Benchley of Scarsdale, N. Y., son of the famed humorist, who himself delivered the ivy oration in 1912.

Presentation of the class colors to the freshmen and the welcoming of the 1938 class into the ranks of the alumni by the class of 1913 were the signal for the traditional battle of confetti. Afterwards the baseball game between Harvard and Yale was played.

Raymond H. Oveson, president, was assisted by Charles Mason and Robert Winsor, Jr., in conducting the class reunion at the St. Botolph Club, Newbury street.

1908

More than 200 members of the class of '08 held their 30th anniversary observance at Scituate, hearing addresses by Dr. Conrad Wesselhoft, F. H. Van Orman, John Richardson and Jay R. Benton.

1913

The "Lucky Thirteeners" were honor guests of today's Class Day events, following a reunion attended by 1200 at Swampscott. Douglas Lawson headed the committee in charge.

1923

Robert F. Bradford served as toastmaster for the annual banquet, held at the Oyster Harbors Club in Osterville. Dr. Robert Flynn from Arizona and Robert Bryan from California came the longest distance for the reunion.

1928

Following a meeting and banquet at the Mayflower Hotel in Plymouth, 150 members of the class of which Walt Disney is an honorary member, prepared for today's alumni procession with a "Snow White and Seven Dwarfs" feature. Edmund F. Henry, Boston and Cambridge attorney, scored a hit at "Dopey."

Mickey Mouse Steals Show at Yale Exercise

NEW HAVEN, Ct., June 22—Snow White sat demurely in the shadows today, and Mickey Mouse held the spotlight at the 237th commencement exercises of Yale University.

In awarding an honorary master of arts to Walt Disney, Mickey's creator, Professor William Lyons Phelps said:

"He labored like a mountain and brought forth a mouse. With this mouse he conquered the whole world."

Also awarded honorary degrees were Dr. Serge Koussevitzky, conductor of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, and the Rev. Endicott Peabody, headmaster of the Groton School, Connecticut, who officiated at the Clark-Roosevelt nuptials last Saturday.

"One touch of nature," said Professor Phelps, "makes the whole world kin. Walter Disney has charmed millions of people in every part of the earth.

"He has accomplished something that has defied all experiments of the laboratories in zoology and biology.

"He has given significance to animals by giving them souls."

Prof. Phelps did not let Snow White go unmentioned.

"The characters in Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs are unforgettable," he said.

Tomorrow Disney receives a degree from Harvard.

More than 1000 degrees in course were conferred at the exercises.

DEGREES AWARDED

Other honorary degrees were awarded to:

Ask Referendum On 'L' Purchase

Purchase of the Boston Elevated Railway by the 14 cities and towns it serves should be submitted to the voters for decision, the Senate ways and means committee was told by one of its own members at the State House today.

The committee met to consider legislation on the bill which calls for purchase of 61 common stock at $60 a share through a $15,000,000 bond issue of the metropolitan district.

Senator Arthur W. Hollis of Newton, veteran legislator, made the proposal for a referendum on the question at the next election.

Alcohol Blamed In Woman's Death

Medical Examiner Timothy Leary today reported "alcoholism" as the cause of the death of 50-year-old Beatrice Maher, of Blue Hill avenue, Roxbury, whose husband is being held on a charge of manslaughter.

The woman's husband, James F. Maher, was arraigned in Roxbury district court this morning and bailed in $3000. The medical examiner's report will undoubtedly cause the release of Maher.

Tercentenary Three Years Too Early

Nathaniel G. Benchley, Harvard senior, told the student body and alumni assembled for class day exercises in the Stadium today that the Harvard tercentenary celebration of 1936 took place three years earlier than the history of the institution warranted.

According to Benchley, Harvard was founded in 1639 and he adduced proof for his assertion from Professor Mory's book, "My Harvard and Yours, or Harvard Gone With the Wind."

"Contrary to popular belief," said Benchley, "the somewhat riotous three days in the fall of 1936 were not really in celebration of the Harvard tercentenary.

"Records show that at that time the Harvard Co-operative Society, a semi-exclusive organization, paid their annual dividends with the result that there was a little over-indulgence and several people felt the urge to give historic speeches and float down the Charles river."

She Ought to Know

CARROLTON, Ga., June 22 (INS)—A recipe for longevity was given the world today by Aunt Sara Stephens, Negro mammy, who claims to be the oldest woman in America—131 years of age. It's just this:

"Live in the South and work on a farm."

Welfare authorities asserted it is well established that she is at least 122. M. B. Traylor, 82, said he had known her since he was a baby and that:

"She was older than my daddy who would have been 120 years of age now."

Piece of Soap Holds Fate of 2 Held in Killing

As State Police ballistic expert Captain Charles J. Van Amburgh and Lieutenant Daniel O'Connell of the Middlesex County district attorney's office left today for Salt Lake City to question two suspects held in connection with the holdup murder of a Somerville store proprietor, there was one item of expense sure to be included in the cost of their trip.

To wit: Two bars of common soap, price 20 cents.

For Captain Van Amburgh uses this household article as a means of comparing bullets to determine whether they have been fired from the same gun.

With the soap, he carried the bullets which took the life of William Phillips, proprietor of a Perkins street, Somerville, store when he fought to balk two bandits who held him up.

Captain Van Amburgh will fire bullets from a gun found in possession of the two suspects into the soap.

The suspects will be returned here to face questioning in connection with the holdup of Edward F. Churchill, Medford auto salesman, and the theft of a car he was demonstrating for them.

It was in this car that Salt Lake City police picked up the two youths, who gave their names as Walter Scott, 22, and Henry Richards, 21. Both said they came from Boston, but police said Scott lived only four doors from Phillips' variety store. Both denied knowledge of the murder. In the pocket of one of the youths was found a newspaper clipping describing Phillips' murder, the police said.

37 Known Dead In Train Wreck

MILES CITY, Mont., June 22 (AP)—Officials counted 37 known dead today as the search for victims in the crash of the Milwaukee road's "Olympian" neared an end at Custer Creek.

Finally gaining access to sleeper cars after several rebuffs in attempting to enter the submerged cars, workers last night took three bodies from the silt-laden car.

Three more victims' bodies were pulled from the Yellowstone river yesterday, many miles from the crash scene. Officials expected to find more.

So far 31 bodies have been borne from the wreckage, five more have been found washed far from the scene, and one woman victim died in a Miles City hospital. One body was found 130 miles from the scene in the Yellowstone river.

The trim "Olympian," ace Chicago to Tacoma, Wash., train, crashed into the creek, normally shallow, early Sunday when a "flash flood" loosened a 150-foot trestle 26 miles east of Miles City.

A coroner's jury last night blamed no one for the crash but attributed the derailment to the "flood waters in Custer Creek."

Santa Fe Marks Employment Gain

CHICAGO, June 22 (AP)—W. K. Etter, vice-president in charge of operations, said today the Santa Fe Railroad would put its shop employes back on a five-day week effective July 1.

He said the decision was made because of a "general upturn in business." The shops, employing about 8000 men, were put on a three-day week basis May 1.

Watt Named To Roosevelt Labor Group

HYDE PARK, N. Y., June 22 (INS)—President Roosevelt this afternoon announced appointment of nine men and women to study the workings of the British labor disputes act and Swedish labor relations this summer, with a view to having information available for Congress next session upon which it might desire to perfect the American system of employer-labor relations.

On the committee are Gerard Swope, president of General Electric; Lloyd K. Garrison, dean of the Wisconsin University Law School; Charles R. Hook, president of the American Rolling Mills; Robert Watt, of Boston, American Federation of Labor representative at the International labor office in Geneva; Henry I. Harriman, former president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce; William H. Davis, New York attorney and former deputy administrator of NRA; Mrs. Anna M. Rosenberg, New York regional director of Social Security; Miss Marion Dickerman, principal of Todhunter School, New York, and close friend of Mrs. Roosevelt and William Ellison Chalmers, assistant U. S. Labor commissioner at Geneva.

According to the summer White House here, no chairman of the group was designated.

In outlining the study he desired made this summer, Mr. Roosevelt wrote each of the nine as follows:

"In view of the many comments that have come to my attention relative to industrial relations in Great Britain, I feel that there is a definite need for an impartial report which will adequately portray the real situation that prevails in British industry.

"I trus that, through conferring with British government officials, industrial leaders and labor officials, you will be in a postion to report to the Scretary of Labor, not only the exact status of labor-employer relations in England, but also on the evolution of the established and accepted procedures that account for the current state of industrial relations in that country."

The President signed 12 more minor bills this morning and vetoed one private relief measure. While he was thus clearing his desk, however, 30 additional bills arrived in the mail pouch from Washington for his consideration.

Sorrows End In Channel

"Life's getting too much for me."

That's what Joseph Goldstein, 53, of Claybourne street, Dorchester, told his relatives, according to police.

Last February his wife died. Subsequently he developed a serious illness.

Today he arose at 5 o'clock in the apartment where he lives with his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles O'Neil, and told Mrs. O'Neil not to bother with breakfast, that he was going to his work in the paving department of the city of Boston.

Six hours later his lifeless body was dragged from the waters of Fort Point channel.

Innocent pleas were made by: Johanna Hofmann, 26-year-old former hairdresser on the German liner Europa; Guenther Gustav Rumrich, former sergeant in the United States Army; Erich Glaser, U. S. Army private stationed at Mitchel Field, important aviation post, and Otto H. Voss, airplane mechanic.

Tax Rate Slash Seen Unlikely By Chamber

Declaring full advantage has not been taken of the opportunities for economy in city departments, the civic bureau of the Boston Chamber of Commerce stated that the immediate outlook for a reduction in Boston's tax rate, now $41.30, is not promising.

"In 1933 the Elevated deficit threatened to more than double, which will add upwards of 80 cents on the tax rate," the bureau' statement read. "Income tax proceeds are expected to show a reduction, a factor tending to increase the rate.

"The gyrations at the State House prevent accurate prophecy as to the state tax, but it is more likely to be higher than lower. Welfare and relief costs are unpredictable. Assessed valuations may not go much lower but they are almost certain not to increase appreciably."

The bureau emphasized the "untapped opportunities" for retrenchments in the school department and called attention to the savings which would result from closing the Teachers' College.

Huge Guard For England's King in Paris

PARIS (Correspondence of the AP)—An army of more than 100,000 men—troops, reserve officers, guardsmen and police—has been mobilized to protect King George and Queen Elizabeth of England during their four-day state visit to France next week.

In the minds of those responsible for their safety are two bits of European history—the assassination of Archduke Franz Ferdinand of Austria at Sarajevo, the spark that started the World War, and the assassination of King Alexander of Yugoslavia Oct. 9, 1934.

Next Tuesday, June 28, the day the British sovereigns will travel the 160 miles from Boulogne, their port of entry, to Paris, will be the 24th anniversary of Sarajevo.

As early as February, when George and Elizabeth accepted President Albert Lebrun's invitation to pay France the first state visit of their reign, the government started taking precautions.

A mass roundup was started among foreign refugees who had swarmed into France from Russia, Italy, Germany, Austria and Spain, many with political axes to grind.

The government ordered that 20,000 police be prepared for duty throughout the visit. 20,000 reserve officers in Paris were recruited as plainclothesmen; the War Ministry assigned 50,000 troops to the task and the Interior Ministry about 10,000 mobile guards.

The principal problem is to guard the King and Queen on processions through Paris. An open but armored automobile with high sides which no bullet could pierce has been made ready. Only the heads and shoulders of the Queen will show over the armored sides of the car.

Guilty Plea Seen In Poet's Death

WORCESTER, June 22—Crowds, which swarmed into superior criminal court here today to hear details of the events leading up to the death of Thomas A. O'Connell, frail poet, on June 5, were disappointed when it was reported Roger J. Perreault, 32, Hubbardston wood-chopper, would plead guilty to a manslaughter charge.

Perreault's alleged confession to police said he became angered when O'Connell made "improper proposals" and beat him with his fists. He declared he did not know O'Connell had died until three days later.

O'Connell's body was found in Institute Park. His larynx had been fractured by a blow, killing him within 15 minutes.

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—Well-informed persons regarded today the appointment of Grant Mason to be administrator of the civil aeronautics authority as virtually certain.

Roosevelt Bride Makes New Social Register

NEW YORK, June 22 (AP)—The summer social register came off the press today with a new addition to the Roosevelt clan—the former Anne Clark of Boston—married last Saturday to the President's son John.

Alfred Gwynn Vanderbilt's marriage nearly two weeks earlier to Manuela Hudson didn't "make the deadline," because it wasn't announced in advance.

Young Vanderbilt, whose bride is a member of an old California family, was listed merely as "Vanderbilt, Mr. Alfred G."

The bride of the President's youngest son is listed, "Clark, Miss Anne L.," under his name, with the notation, "married at Nahant, Mass., June 18."

As usual, the summer edition of the little black book is more decorative than the winter edition because of the tiny yacht pictures alongside the names of many of the elite.

Despite the recession, these emblems of prosperity still are well sprinkled through the 855 pages of the "Social Register, Summer, 1938—All Cities."

Barbara Hutton Baby Under Kidnap Guard

their two-year-old son. The Count himself was not represented when the Bow street court order was obtained.

Friends declared the countess had sought protection of the English courts to prevent forcible removal of Lance from her custody pending a court settlement. She was said to fear that if the count placed the boy under Danish jurisdiction she would be helpless regarding his future.

In this connection, the friends said the countess bitterly regretted renouncing her American citizenship.

The Danish nobleman, scion of an aristocratic European family who married the blonde millionairess following her divorce from Prince Alexis Mdivani, was last reported on the continent.

LONDON IN FURORE

Friends of the couple revealed he had left Geneva, Switzerland, several days ago, ostensibly for London, but he apparently had not reached here at the time the kidnaping scare threw London into a furore.

The rumored difficulties between the couple came to light when the countess appealed to Scotland Yard. A guard was posted at her palatial home in Regent Park and plainclothes men were assigned to all seaports and airplane landing fields in England, presumably to question or apprehend an unidentified "suspect" connected with the case.

Through her attorney, the countess sought to minimize published reports of an actual kidnaping plot. She said:

"I am sure it will be appreciated that for legal reasons it is impossible to make a statement. But if, at a later stage, there is anything to say, the press will be informed."

Then, while the child was taken for a stroll in his perambulator by a white-uniformed nurse in full view of occupants of the Haugwitz household, the countess drove to Bow street accompanied by her attorney, Sir Patrick Hastings, and a number of solicitors.

Arriving there, she asked for an interview with a magistrate. She was compelled to wait for 10 minutes before one became available.

SECRET HUDDLE

The conference which followed in secret lasted for some time and no member of the countess' legal staff would make any definite statement. One, however, did declare:

"I understand a process was granted to whatever was requested by the countess. But I cannot say what was the nature of the application."

Extent of the countess' anxiety was apparent from the fact she called Sir Patrick, one of the most famous lawyers in England, from a meeting of the select committee of the House of Lords to appear for her.

Legal circles pointed out she might have visited the magistrate for purpose of seeking guidance regarding a future application to make the child a ward of the high court pending litigation regarding his future.

Such applications are usually made in secret before a judge of the high court but the advice of a magistrate is frequently sought.

The possibility of a domestic rift was hinted by intimates of the couple, who inferred from the beginning Barbara and her husband have not seen eye to eye on the course to be followed in bringing up their child.

The countess, who recently nounced her Americas citizenship, is committed to the English ideals of life and is understood to be determined to have the boy educated in English schools. The count, on the other hand, was said quite understandably to favor a Danish background for his son.

Neither the countess nor any member of her legal staff, however, would lend the slightest confirmation to reports of such differences, but on the other hand made no attempt to reconcile the kidnaping reports with the purely legalistic measures.

The Daily ail's initial story led to a floodtide of rumor and speculation, but it was significant that the Haugwitz household itself, while obviously taking some sort of precautionary measures, minimized reports of threatened violence or even that the dramatic situation resulted from the work of a crank.

"The report of the alleged kidnaping threat is greatly exaggerated," a spokesman said early this morning, "but the count and countess have taken certain precautions."

It was after this statement was issued that investigators determined that Count von Haugwitz-Reventlow himself is not in London, and that the "precautions" were taken by the heiress herself.

According to legal circles here, under Danish law the count would have supreme control over the rearing of the child. Under English law, however, Barbara has the right to seek a court order, giving her custody of the child pending final disposal of any legal action she may seek to take.

CORDON OF LAWYERS

Witnesses reported the countess spent an exceedingly nervous and uneasy 24 hours. She did not retire until 2 o'clock this morning, far later than her usual hour, and during the time she spent waiting in the lobby of Bow street to see Magistrate Fry, she smoked continually.

Efforts to break through the cordon of lawyers and detectives surrounding her were unavailing.

To every question directed at members of her legal staff came the invariable reply:

"The less said at this stage the better."

'Shoot to Kill' Order in Hunt For Slayer

CHICOPEE, June 22—Armed with sub-machine guns, 20 state troopers combed the woods fringing the Connecticut river near here today to trap Charles Wajda, whose wife was found shot to death on the porch of their home last night.

Carrying a rifle, according to police Wajda was seen to disappear into the densely wooded riv[illegible] section shortly after the bullet-ridden body of his wife was discovered.

Known to be an expert marksman and well supplied with ammunition, the state police posse have been given orders to shoot Wadja on sight if he attempts to resist capture.

The massed hunt for Wajda was ordered by State Police Captain James P. Mahoney after Chicopee police informed him the hunted killer had fired point blank at three schoolboys who had attempted to follow him after his wife was killed.

One of the four bullets fired at Mrs. Katherine Wajda, mother of eight children, struck her temple; two entered her cheat, and one crashed through a kitchen window. Medical Examiner P. M. Moriarty said she died instantly.

Troopers were ordered to proceed through the woods with extreme caution and shoot Wajda on sight.

Martin Referees Governor Fight

By ALFRED D. WHELTON

Republican confusion in the fight to be the party's nominee for governor has forced the entrance of Congressman Joseph W. Martin, Jr., into the role of peacemaker, it was learned today.

Conferences that started during the weekend and still are in progress have included talk of "ditching" all the candidates now in the field for one whom one group of party leaders feels would have a better chance of winning over the Democratic nominee.

Congressman George J. Bates, former mayor of Salem, is one proposed as a compromise candidate over the present field of five.

MARTIN SOUGHT

Congressman Martin himself, whose role as national committee member and chairman of the party's Congressional committee makes him responsible for the party's chances here, is another prospect the group would like to see run for governor.

The conferences have been held at various places in Boston. One of those who has attended is Gaspar Bacon, former lieutenant-governor. Another is described as a representative of Leverett Saltonstall of Newton.

The group has discussed the question of Saltonstall's chance to win the election in the event of nomination. They have discussed just as minutely the chances of Fred Butler, chairman of the 1936 state convention of Republicans; John W. Haigis, the party nominee in '36; William H. McMasters, who announced Republican this year after losing his fight as a Union Party candidate in 1936, and Major Richard Whitcomb of Springfield, who resigned Monday as Mayor Tobin's efficiency man.

None of the five can win, even if nominated, the group has decided.

BOTH FILL ORDER

One thing is certain to the group—the selection of an outstanding Republican at whom the finger of "royal purple" cannot be pointed.

The two congressmen fill that order, but Martin has only a short road to fame and power should the Republicans again gain control in the near future.

Congressman Bates must be assured of solid backing and victory inasmuch as a losing fight will also lose him a seat in Congress that is practically assured him as long as he elects to seek it.

"There is no truth to that story," he said. "Harvard has not offered me an honorary degree and I am not even going to attend Harvard commencement exercises tomorrow.

"I won't see Joe, Jr., graduated, but I'll see him today at Class Day exercises at the Stadium. Joe is senior class day committee chairman.

"Tomorrow, I expect to visit in East Boston for a short time, then go to Hyannis and take things easy there with my son, Jack, next youngest brother of Joe, Jr."

LOOKS WELL

Tanned by his sea trip here from England, Ambassador Kennedy looked rested and well today. He was immaculate in white flannels.

His door at the Ritz Carlton was guarded by Police Captain John Dorsey, specially detailed from the office of Attorney General Paul A. Dever.

The ambassador praised Prime Minister Chamberlain of England as "a realist the dictators of Europe have learned to respect."

The treaty England recently effected with Ireland was "biggest political news of 400 years," Ambassador Kennedy said.

"That proved Chamberlain an idealist as well as a realist," he told interviewers. "Ireland now has something solid to go on in organizing her own national economy and industry."

Instead, prostrated by sorrow and shock, she was unable even to go to the grave of her fiance, Harold Landy, who was buried yesterday in Mount Zion cemetery.

Only 21, Landy suffered a heart attack and died at the feet of Miss Schoenfeld a few short minutes before Rabbi Jesse Bienenfeld was to perform the marriage ceremony.

Air Vacations To Set Record

With a majority of the country's most popular vacation centers situated in the 24 states and Canada served by American Airlines, a record summer-vacation travel is expected this season, according to W. Nelson Bump, district sales manager of the airline company.

"Most of America's favorite playgrounds and vacation centers are either directly on the routes of American Airlines or within a short distance of one of the 57 cities through which we operate," Bump stated.

"For instance, the Southern Transcontinental System of American serves three major vacation centers—New England, Texas and California. American's 'Scenic Route' between Boston, Newark and Chicago serves Buffalo and Niagara Falls, Detroit and the Great Lakes, and Chicago. The 'Capitol Route' between Newark and Chicago via Washington and Cincinnati flies through one of the most picturesque sections of the country. The 'non-stop' between Boston, Newark and Chicago is the fastest and most comfortable manner of reaching the Middle West," Bump continued.

"Many vacationists have chosen air travel as the means of traveling farther to see more places in less time. Our summer aerial tours for vacationists, which are arranged through travel bureaus, permit convenient stop-overs in any of the cities American serves. Thus a person flying to the West Coast may enjoy a few days in the beautiful sun country of the Southwest and Texas, a visit to Chicago or a few days on Santa Catalina Island off the coast of California.

A popular air trip with New England vacationists is the all-expenses tour to Buffalo, Toronto, Montreal and Albany. This combines air-rail-boat and auto transportation and includes a trip to Niagara Falls, the Gorge, boat to Toronto and down the St. Lawrence waterway, return by air from Montreal to Boston via Albany," Bump illustrated.

Chasing Summer Cares Away

IT'S FUN—Swimming and romping on the sands of New England's hundreds of beaches are among the many lures of the northeast vacationland. Every type of fresh and saltwater bathing is available in the N. E. states.

PLUS SECOND MAJOR FEATURE

Boston After Dark

By GEORGE HOLLAND

Bargain in the Swing-Mart:

The two phenoms of the swing-era, Benny Goodman and Maxine Sullivan, merged talents last night at the Ritz Roof to the unbounded joy of a cheering, delighted audience . . . Maxine was an added starter, so to speak, on the Ritz program . . . Half of last night's gathering probably was not acquainted with the fact that the famed Maxine was scheduled to appear with the Goodman boys on a radio broadcast direct from the Ritz Roof . . .

GEORGE HOLLAND

Her appearance was not advertised, and readers of radio-logs alone were privy to the news that the dusky singer was due in town . . . But have no doubt about whether staid Boston is "up," or "hep," to what is what in swing-dom . . . It was Miss Sullivan who used her own swing-version of the classic "Loch Lomond" as her siren-song to fame and riches . . . Starting at the Onyx Club, in "Swing Street," [illegible] girl's renown soon became national [illegible] international . . . Lately she has been in Hollywood and, steadily, she has been heard on the airwaves . . .

Well, you should have heard the greeting the Ritz audience extended the singer . . . It was a typical Boston crowd of the sort which patronizes Lunt and Fontanne, Noel Coward and Cole Porter musicals . . . It did everything but whistle in showing its enthusiasm for Miss Sullivan as she went through an interesting repertory . . .

"Loch Lomond" got such applause that the sound-mixers must have turned down the volume-dial . . . "This Time It's Real" was Maxine Sullivan at her best, and "Darlin' Nellie Gray" in swing were tremendous hits . . . So the story gets down to this . . .

One of her audience Miss Sullivan left breathless at her first appearance in Boston, was Proprietor Ed Wyner, of the Ritz . . . He was so excited when your reporter talked with him as he was enjoying a beverage with Maestro Goodman after the curfew rang, that—well, Mr. Goodman had to do the talking . . . But what we gathered from the remarks of both lads, was that Miss Sullivan will be a fixture for the remainder of the Goodman engagement . . . That is, if, on top of the Goodman $6000-and-up per week, Mr. Wyner can see his way clear to swing it . . .

A Couple of Gags:

If Fred Allen doesn't use the following quip on his program tonight (Cartoonist Art Moger of this paper is a guest performer), it will be because he changed his mind . . . "Most of the jokes used by radio comedians," mused Mr. Allen, "should be returned marked 'insufficient fun.' . . . [illegible] Now You [illegible] when [illegible] . . . [illegible] . . . The Political Parade

By GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN

WASHINGTON, June 22

TO GET the right slant on what happened in the spendthrift seventy-fifth it is necessary to start with this fact—that the Democratic independents in this Congress were fighting a rear-guard action.

The strategy and it was planned in secret around many a Senatorial dining room table—was to postpone a show-down with President Roosevelt and the New Deal until after the Congressional elections in November.

The political reason which actuated these independent Democrats was that while a rear-guard action might mean the immediate surrender of many vital American principles, which it is the hope and intention to recapture beginning with the 1940 campaign which will get under way next year, the loss of a major battle with the President in 1938 might easily mean defeat, and the permanent loss of these principles.

For these and other reasons a frontal attack on the President was deemed inadvisable except when public opinion was unmistakably against the President, as in the matter of the packing of the Supreme Court.

THE MEN who planned and carried out this strategy are looking ahead to the control of the Democratic National Convention two years hence.

What of Today, Tomorrow?

City Boys Require Country Vacations

Is the city boy of today being more and more shut out of the busy, competitive world in which his parents and other adults work and live?

Does the summer camp attract recruits because it offers boys a chance to "get back" at a social and economic set-up in which they feel they have no useful place?

These questions are answered in today's Boston Evening American's Today and Tomorrow feature by a man whose business is that of helping boys. He tells what is being done for boys TODAY to make their TOMORROW brighter.

By PAUL WHELTON

Boston Evening American Staff Writer

Modern city life denies the average boy many of the experiences which help shape the character of his country cousin.

The city boy's world is one of complex adult activities in which he himself can take no part.

There are no barnyard chores for him to do. He doesn't help with the storing of the harvests. The very food he eats comes to him as the product of a distribution system too elaborate for him to comprehend.

HE'S SHUT OUT OF THINGS AND HE'S RESENTFUL. THAT'S WHY HE GETS INTO MISCHIEF! If his resentment and his lack of contact with workaday realities are too greatly prolonged, his mischief may lead him into crime.

Such is the opinion of Gilbert H. Rowley, program and camp director at the Boston Young Men's Christian Association.

Boys are [illegible] business.

Here's what he has to say about the [illegible] present-day problems a boy must [illegible]

[illegible] life and [illegible] vision of it that is necessary to keep [illegible] city [illegible] adult world.

G. H. Rowley.

IN THE CITY AREAS AND CHILD [illegible] ETERNALLY AT [illegible]

"THE BOY'S ATTITUDE [illegible] TOO OFTEN A DEFEATIST ATTITUDE BECAUSE THE ADULTS [illegible] WITH HIM ARE SO BUSY WITH ADULT INTERESTS AND RESPONSIBILITIES THAT THEY HAVE LITTLE TIME TO GIVE TO TRYING TO UNDERSTAND HIS VIEWPOINT.

"THEY COME TO APPEAR IN THE BOY'S MIND AS DISCIPLINARIANS.

"In recent years, organizations dealing with child life have recognized the usefulness of the summer camp in making good to the boy many of the things he is deprived of in the city.

"THE SUMMER CAMP IS PRIMARILY A POWERFUL MEANS OF HELPING BOYS TO LEARN SOMETHING ABOUT WHAT GOES INTO THE MAINTENANCE OF HUMAN LIFE, BOTH INDIVIDUALLY AND SOCIALLY.

"In camp the boy is [illegible] with [illegible] of providing a large [illegible] for himself.

He must [illegible] and [illegible] of [illegible] and [illegible] in order [illegible] of the [illegible] [illegible] pay and [illegible]

"On his [illegible] and [illegible] in properly [illegible]

shares the responsibility of planning and organizing his own program.

"All this is done in the company of understanding adult leaders who share with the boy all the varied experiences of his day.

"AS A RESULT OF THIS, LIFE TAKES ON REALITY IN THE BOY MIND. IT IS SEEN BY HIM IN BETTER PERSPECTIVE.

HE HAS LEARNED BETTER HOW TO DEAL WITH ITS PROBLEMS AND CONFLICTS.

HE HAS GAINED GREATER ABILITY TO ADJUST HIMSELF TO HIS FELLOWS AND TO BE OF HELP TO HIS FELLOWS.

OFTEN HE HAS ACQUIRED AN ENTIRELY NEW VIEW-POINT WITH REGARD TO HIS RELATIONSHIP WITH ADULTS AND TO HIS WORK.

[illegible] a boy often has had [illegible] with real trees, [illegible] a hammock in the [illegible] of city life he has been [illegible] to [illegible] and [illegible] by [illegible] He learns to [illegible] and [illegible] camp.

MOST IMPORTANT OF ALL, HE LEARNS HOW TO GET ALONG HAPPILY WITH ASSOCIATES OF HIS OWN AGE.

"Every city mother knows how difficult boys sometimes find the task of making friends at school and on the playground.

"The boy who comes forth [illegible] from a sheltered home to meet the [illegible] judgment of [illegible] or street acquaintances often finds the experience an unhappy one.

Girl About Town by Marguerite Downey

FOR LOVERS of the past and aspiring historians, we recommend a tour of East Boston streets. The Noddle Island literally teems with memorable events and personages.

There's a succession of streets named after Revolutionary War battles. Bennington, Saratoga, Princeton, Lexington, Trenton and Monmouth. Apply enough, these are intersected by streets remembering, perhaps generals of the same strife. Marion, Putnam, Putnam and Prescott.

Marguerite Downey

In the section of the town warming the Grand Heights, poets of the past held dominion over the town. Milton, Hemingway, Cowper, Byron, Longfellow, with streets run each by formerly reference of lane and literary excellence.

West of Maverick square where the peninsula ends not a stone's throw from the "European" section of the town. You'll find Liverpool, London, Havre, Paris, Geneva and Venice, each retaining the quaint provincialism of its namesake.

As if that weren't enough, the navy has crept in down into the situation, with Cohasset, Lawton and Eagle streets. Then the whole thing Revolutionary generals, battles and patriotic birds converges into Eagle square. And before we all swing into "Columbia: The Gem of the Ocean" we better get this travel talk

THE old Harvard spirit still reigns in the 25-year-old grads. The downtown headquarters of the reunion committee for the Class of 1913, for its number, but the Beacon Hill office on Lime street also boasts of Lafayette 1913, as its connection.

And, to climax the old rah-rah spirit, Bill Blake, head of the Veterans' Bureau and one of the prime-movers in reunion plans, has 1913 for his car registration.

DR. TEHYI HSIEH, member of the Chinese Board of Trade, may love his occidental name, but he still clings to Oriental customs, entertainments at the Pops.

The other evening he explained how that three pots of hot water into which he poured a pound of Chinese tea extracted from his back pocket.

He's definitely an individualist. Turning neat to his dinner clothes as he favors the well-to-do garb is a Prince Albert in every sense of the word. Frown.

A NEW USE for ancient automobile tires has been discovered at Enfield where the Quabbin dam of the metropolitan water supply is being constructed.

To have the sand and water come properly, the mixture has to be properly agitated. Mounted on two pontoons, the 15-year-old engine sails over the lagoon kicking up a mountainous wake.

FOR LEISURE ATTIRE, nothing is more appropriate than a dirndl. Slattery's is featuring a dirndl play suit. Its combination of skirt and shorts is topped by a voluminous gathered skirt in gay print. For town wear, Filene's is offering a multi-colored floral one. A wealth of lingerie, including sleeveless and sun-back will be offered at Gorham's sale Friday. Very well, the dirndl will require no ironing. Next season's version will have a mate.

The Inquisitions by Hugh S. Johnson

BETHANY BEACH, Del. Three important events in the world have helped to prevent the almost unlimited power of Congressional inquiries. That power is shown in the efforts of men of Hauptmann, which are about exhausted at the bar of public opinion. Sometimes the virtual jury the hangings of the past, result in what is in practical effect a sentence of life imprisonment and penalties of even death.

General Johnson

But in these days and a good bit long of the defensive rights guaranteed in almost every other system of justice. They are violated by Congress freely, usually composed of the gentlemen left in one of these cases who can't be laid and now are to be defrauded by executive officers. These are the judges who arraign at the outset. They are also the prosecutors of the accused. Nobody ever heard of that kind of arrangement in any accepted system of justice.

The accused can't call any witnesses or confront or cross-examine any witnesses against him. If what he says in his own defense is not acceptable to the inquisitors, he can be kept in court and shut up. If he refuses to answer the committee can send him to jail for contempt. This also conforms to no other recognized system of justice.

Finally, there is no purpose that the judges are impartial. They are not merely seeking to use their extraordinary powers, not primarily to produce a review of all pertinent facts but primarily to bolster their own part in political politics by bringing out all the facts that will help it and suppressing or hamstringing all others.

THEY WILL USE their inquisitorial power not to inquire whether this should be done but only to argue that it must be done. The truth has less chance before these three-ring circus inquisitions than Joan of Arc in her trial and execution before the Bishop of Beauvais than a French Royalist before the French Tribunal of the Terror, or than Jesus before Caiaphas.

This political three ring circus I have in mind are the TVA inquisition, entirely demonstrated by Third New Dealers. The Third New Deal is openly and repeatedly on record as abusing TVA and condemning its opponents.

In ring three is the political investigation of misuse of relief funds, especially under WPA. It is also smothered under New Deal domination and influence.

The scintillating middle ring, "the monopoly" investigation, a mass production of witch-finding with a St. Bartholomew's massacre of all business opponents of the Third New Deal, at the end

The Brighter Side by Damon Runyon

WHEN you consider the battle that Old John Law has to constantly wage in the United States of America, we think he does surprisingly well.

The supposition prevails that no honest citizens are opposed to crime in any form. That supposition may be true in the abstract but unfortunately below the fact that a citizen is honest does not prevent him from also being a numbskull.

Damon Runyon

It is the numbskullery of our honest citizens with respect to crime that has given Old John Law his greatest headache down through the years. It is the numbskullery of honest citizens that has often been the criminal's best shield and backer against Old John Law.

This numbskullery may manifest itself in jury rooms. It may develop in public sentiment respecting the crime and the criminal. Some of our honest citizens can work themselves up into a terrible lather of sentimentalism about criminals at times, even when they know that the accused is guilty beyond any shadow of doubt.

IT HAS not been so long ago that there was considerable public outcry over the way Mr. Hoover's Sams were mowing down the bad men here and there about the country, though it was generally known that these bad men had killed innocent persons for no reason and stood ready to kill others for no reason.

WE SUPPORT the biggest criminal population in and out of jail in the world. Without entering into the staggering cost of crime to the country the money spent on prisons and on the upkeep of prisoners every year in the United States would help a lot of our 14,000,000 unemployed over many a rough spot.

The responsibility rests largely on the numbskullery of our honest citizens because they are constantly hampering the activities of John Law by restrictive legislative measures of just plain appropriations. There are few cities in the United States today that do not need at least twice as many policemen as they have and twice as much money for these policemen as the honest numbskulls apportion.

THE first lesson one learns as a news reporter is that newspaper space is precious. News-reading is the most exacting work. There is neither place nor time for superfluous, pretentious stuff to fade. Weigh your words. Choose only those that say most, and say it with well work for you. Delete all the non-essentials. SKIP THE NON-ESSENTIALS.

Elsie Robinson

SKIP IT! That newspaper slogan has always worked itself into our popular vernacular and is as good a rule as one could find for guiding life in the fast moving age. Indeed, it would save many a life from tragic wreckage if it were adopted in time.

And, looking back, those days seem beautiful—don't they? You sigh for the lovely easy leisure of your youth and bitterly resent the speed and pressure of this modern life. "If only things were the way they used to be!"

But stop and think! What good did all that easy leisure do? How much did they profit by that boundless opportunity? Prove it from me to me honestly, endorse all our modern challenge but neither can I fool myself over the Dear Old Days of Dreamy Ease when fathers and mothers the better or braver for their endless hours of chair rocking on the front veranda . . . or chair tilting down the back alley stable? THEY WERE NOT!

IT WAS, I grant you a pretty and pleasant way of life but it was also powerful pitying. Skills as well as arts were developed with them. Those vernacular sessions produced a pair of tatted and lace-tatted as well as crochet edging. And no K.K.K. conference ever produced more ignorance, bigotry and race-suppression than those fancy table conclaves.

THAT CHARMING WORLD ENDED IN THE GHASTLY WASTE AND BUTCHERY OF THE WORLD WAR. FOR WHICH IDLE TONGUES AND BROWSING BRAINS WERE LARGELY RESPONSIBLE.

AND MILLIONS OF YOUNG PEOPLE ARE IDLE TODAY BECAUSE THEIR FATHERS AND GRANDFATHERS SPENT THEIR TIME GABBLING INSTEAD OF PREPARING SOCIETY FOR ITS TERRIFIC READJUSTMENT.

Remember these facts and—SKIP IT! Cut out the useless talk! Keep away from the useless memories! What if a part of your heart is buried back there in some little grave? What if a wrong was done you then which will scar you all your life? SKIP IT! PUT THAT GRIEF, PUT THAT HURT, AWAY. YOU HAVE NO MORE RIGHT TO WASTE YOUR LIFE IN USELESS GRIEVING AND RESENTING THAN YOU HAVE IN LIQUOR OR DRUG ADDICTION.

SKIP IT!

DELETE all the non-essentials from your life. Drop the trashy friends . . . the vicious prejudices . . . the senseless hates that lay nothing. Cut out the posing and pattering . . . the drifting and dawdling. There is no time, no space today for trash in your mind or your soul.

THE TWENTIETH CENTURY NEEDS STREAM LINED CHARACTERS. CUT OUT THE CLUTTER. SKIP THE FUTTER. GET GOING!

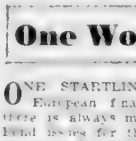
ONE STARTLING feature of home and time on Gen. McCarthy at the fair. We will take it with a grain of salt.

Our allies have taken so much shake the last time. They broke all rules of paying. After 20 years we are just getting they took our breakfast nook.

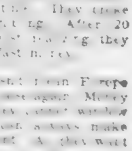
But that doesn't mean Europe won't last out here again. Merry doesn't mean they cannot window shop. Europe can always make the down payment. As they want America to have a seat in the insurance. That's why all European trouble certificates have been covered by the home's and coppers.



The same is true of America, Asia and Africa. If we've missed a continent we will pick it up on the next time around. The psychology of it is as good as the trunk on an Olympia schedule. Armies and navies are a nation's life insurance.

Navies have been important ever since Noah packed up the first ship and whistled for the bird. We know that Noah had to fight on his sailboat, but he did have plenty of teeth and claws.

The next war will be a tough one. We can take it in television. It will be great when we can get it by turning knobs. And we hope they don't spoil the Maginot Line with advertising talks.



The cry of "Wolf" will be the sign we want to get up. Chicago thing is having money. Thousands of people with starving cats. Chicago we would have to have a over Asia was a little too much for shower.

Still if we have to choose we would rather have cats than have them eat over here. No matter how much we love land in Europe we will never feel that they owe us a visit.

If curiosity killed the cat, we can keep the house pet right at

Porcellian Society Members Hosts

By BETTY ALDEN

MEMBERS of Harvard's Porcellian Society, one of the most unusual organizations in America, acted as hosts at the famous Beck Hall spread last evening . . . The affair which is one of the traditional festivities of Commencement week at Harvard is held in the ivy walled courtyard of Lowell House . . . Its name comes from the days when the fellows were known as Beck Hall . . .

Like most collegiate farewell affairs the spread is steeped in superstition . . . The girls invited to the dinner, some of at least two Boston debutante courts . . . and they do their part to make it a most colorful and picturesque occasion by wearing their prettiest summer gowns . . .

Through a midnight supper is served and the dancing continues into the wee small hours . . . many of the seniors belonging to other exclusive clubs started the evening's festivities with dinner parties and dancing to victrola music in their clubhouses . . .

A large party of merrymakers strolled over to Lowell House after dancing at the Iroquois, a few doors around the corner . . . and Hasty Puddingers were also hosts to their girls at dinner . . . Since no women, not even fiancees are allowed to cross the threshold of the Fly Club, several girls had to wait outside, while their escorts dashed in to collect additional escorts and a few ingredients for the punch . . .

Many older Porcellian club members were present with their wives to join in the festivities . . .

Nancy Peabody's billowy white organdie, printed with huge poppies was topped by an unusual black wrap covered with printed roses . . . Olivia Vogel was prepared for eating under the stars in her soft white wool coat over a chiffon gown, and a tiny bolero to don for dancing, tucked under her arm . . .

Isabella Grandin trailed a long ostrich stole of varying shades of rose and purple and her mother, Mrs. John Grandin, was a distinguished figure in pastel flowered chiffon . . . Betty Dumaine, who came down from Groton with the Grandins, chatted about her favorite sports, sailing and skiing, with a number of other sports enthusiasts . . .

John Lawrence came up from the North Shore with the Albert C. Burrages, Jr. for the evening's merriment . . . Mr. and Mrs. Walter Peirce and Mr. and Mrs. George Putnam, also joined in the fun . . . The latter was another to favor the popularity of ostrich capes as a summer necessary . . . hers of coral color enhancing a soft lace chiffon gown . . .

Chiffon Gowns Were Popular

Olivia Ames, Jinx Barbour and Peggy Parker were among the Vincent Club girls present . . . in fact there were enough Vincent girls present for an impromptu show . . . what with Julie's torch singing, Peggy's dancing and Nancy Peabody's yodelling . . . Mrs. Richard Saltonstall, who has acted on the legitimate stage could have stayed home for entertainment also . . . She was accompanied by Mr. Saltonstall and Winston and joined later by Betty Stockton and [illegible] Nancy Symmes . . .

Tom Weld and Marion Lawrence, who haven't missed a Beck Hall opening since their debutante days several years ago, were greeted by Mrs. Weld and Lydia Laughlin, one of Anne Curtis' bridesmaids last autumn, who is engaged to Harvard with her costume taffeta bouffant white organdie . . . Betty Wilson wore a pink bow in her hair, as she sat side by side with Beal Mackey, to whom she will be married next Sunday . . . and Betty Robinson in her attractive appearance in a black taffeta gown, [illegible] the talent of Margaret Fogg . . .

Mrs. Lyon Warren Hall wears her hair brushed back off her forehead and ears and her dress was a very feminine creation of white chiffon with splashes of wood color to match her fur coat . . .

Intent

Debs Provide Study In Concentration

STUDY IN INTENSITY is presented by these two debutantes as they watch a summer sporting event on the North Shore. They are Helen Harlow (left), more intimately known as "Noni," daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward D. Harlow of Concord, and Sally Brewer, daughter of the Robert Brewers of Hingham.

Miss Elizabeth Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred D. Smith, of West Newton and Scituate, will be married Saturday to John Moore Crafts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morton Crafts, of Grasmere, N. H.

Only the immediate families will attend the ceremony and additional guests have been invited to the reception, both to take place at the summer home of the bride's parents.

Miss Rosalind Crafts will be the bride's maid of honor and only attendant. Peter Cushman Crafts will be best man, and the ushers will include Julian Park Crafts of New York, Thomas Hynes of Manchester, N. H., Clarence Cole of Cambridge, Robert McGuirk and Leonard Wade of Brookline.

The prospective bride is a graduate of the Brimmer School and Smith College and Mr. Crafts attended Brewster Academy.

MRS MONKS IN LENOX

Mrs. George H. Monk of Commonwealth avenue has joined her son and daughter-in-law, Rev. and Mrs. George Gardner Monks, at their estate in Lenox.

Brookline Pair Wed in B. C. Chapel

Rt. Rev. Francis E. Burke, pastor of the Blessed Sacrament Church in Jamaica Plain officiated at the wedding of his cousin William McElroy, of Brookline to Alma Chaloner, of Brookline yesterday morning in Boston College Chapel.

The bride wore a classic gown of white satin and voluminous veil of tulle. She carried a bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley.

Gowned alike in bouffant gowns of white net were her attendants. Ruth Chaloner served as her sister's honor maid.

Preceding the bride afterward was a corps of bridesmaids in blue ribbons trimming their hats of white straw and all carrying bouquets of red roses and larkspur. Among them were Mrs. John A. Finn, of Lewiston, Me., Mrs. J. Frank Dowling, of Belmont, Mrs. Carl Terbune, of Brighton and Margaret McElroy, of Brookline, sister of the bridegroom.

John A. Finn, classmate of the bridegroom at Holy Cross College served as best man. Officiating as ushers were Frank Sullivan, of Rome, N. Y., Harold McElroy, of Brookline, Edward Grennan, of Norfolk and Henry Cuffney of Newton.

The bridal couple received their guests with a breakfast at the Philosophers Club. Mrs. James McElroy, the bridegroom's mother chose beige lace with a large navy hat and navy accessories.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Catherine Chaloner, was smartly attired in navy marquisette effectively embroidered with pink flowers. She pinned a corsage of orchids to her frock.

Following a wedding trip the bridal couple will make their home in Belmont.

Lydia Millar Brighton Bride

Lydia Millar, daughter of Mrs. John Millar, of Brighton, became the bride of Arthur Hopkins at a ten o'clock ceremony at St. Gabriel's Church, Brighton. She chose a dirndl of white satin and veil of tulle, with bouquet of orchids.

Attending her was her sister, Catherine, gowned in pink tulle and carrying a cluster of roses and larkspur.

Sky-Pink Make-up

[illegible]

DEAR GAIL: Girls who've never shone before will find new radiance through a sky pink make-up that's truly heavenly it's inspired by the effulgence of sky at sunset.

Pink is one of summer's high fashion colors, too. The shades of lipstick and rouge, all included in a color harmony box or which may be bought separately, are a soft deep pink with an under-tone of the fashionable cyclamen.

The budding - colored gal shouldn't resign themselves to mediocrity, for with this make-up their personality can blaze to compete successfully with the fortuna e striking extremes of blonde or brunette. If you'd like all further information on the sky-pink make-up phone me at LIberty 4000, or write again, and please inclose a stamped self address envelope.

Tighter Bank Control Trend Is Forecast

By HUGH E. BRADSHAW
Financial Editor

When Professor J Franklin Ebersole of the Harvard Business School told an Alumni gathering recently that whether we like it or not we may expect the Treasury to ask for additional powers to regiment bank bond portfolio policy, he did not mean today or tomorrow but within a possible two or three years

The point he strongly stressed in an interview with the undersigned was that he spoke in terms of a trend brought about by the growing necessity for expanded Treasury powers, due to increasing problems connected with the financing of continual federal deficits

Professor Ebersole pointed out that an enormous responsibility rests on the Treasury to maintain the stability of financial institutions as a result of the huge amounts of low interest bearing governments placed in them

With the situation so sharply outlined it simply becomes a routine matter of watching for an inkling expanded, or stricter, control powers are sought. We think it is found in the disagreement between Secretary Morgenthau and Chairman Eccles of the Reserve Board. They were far apart on bank examination policies, with the latter terming proposals restrictive A compromise seems to have been effected and the report now goes to the President

As of the above, note Secretary Morgenthau's words that . . "in drawing up the report—by the interdepartmental committee on revision of bank investment and examination rules—have just one thing in mind, and that is protection of the depositors . . . Even though ideas may now be mutually satisfactory, the trend toward more control is indisputable defined . . And responsibilities . . admitted the to . . . . . .

. . . . . the . . . . . to . . . . . thousands . . . . . had its present pitch . . . . . 1/32 196 and 29/31 on the New Jersey in . . . . . the final rail average . . . . . more issues took an abrupt, recent buyers were impressed with speculating relief . . . . . bonds . . . . . bought . . . . . to the last second . . . . .

The next general market reaction holds the answer as to whether or not an intermediate trend of importance got under way Monday. After weeks of compressed price fluctuations the volume burst on the upside certainly suggests that this is the case Shorts undoubtedly played a part in it, but now the list is rolling, bulls could keep it traveling with a break in the news

* * *

In the event prices work off in an orderly way in the next session or two and trading contracts we will look for a return of most averages to the levels of January-February

N. E. Move Aims for Freedom

By LEWIS HANEY
(Professor of Economics, New York University)

NEW YORK, June 22—A good many letters are coming in as a result of my column on the organization of a "middle class" movement I told of such an organization in San Francisco. Now I find another in New England

The New England organization has as its slogan:

"A free government, free enterprise, free men."

Its program is to oppose bureaucracy and representation, to prevent the government from raising living costs, to stop reckless spending, and to restore American method of government.

A man in Sacramento, California also writes of a plan which he has developed for organizing the great unorganized majority against the assaults of organized minorities. He is getting out a book of principles, and proposes to work toward establishing a board of governors in every city He would call his organization "American Conservators"

So the leaven is working

Now what is the basic idea underlying this movement? What are the dangers that must be avoided if it is to succeed?

I would say that the underlying idea is the maintenance of ORDER in society and that it finds expression in advocating thrift and economy and defending individualism and property rights

One main principle is to maintain order in politics. It stands for majority rule, with due protection for minority interests.

A second main principle is order in economic life. It stands for economy and opposes waste of all sorts

* * *

But to succeed such an organization must avoid the following dangers

The danger of splitting into rival groups.

The danger of becoming a racket for the benefit of "organizers."

The danger of being dependent upon financial assistance from wealthy persons

The danger of following some class interest or fad.

The danger of becoming an adjunct to some political party.

U. S. Smelting Pays $1 Dividend

Directors of United States Smelting Refining & Mining Co have declared a dividend of $1 per share on the common stock and regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent (87½ cents) per share on the preferred stock both payable July 15 to stock of record June 30

The dividend declared on the common is not to be considered as establishing a regular dividend rate

The common dividend compares with $1 per share paid on April 15 of this year and with $2 per share paid on July 15, 1937.

Austen Lake Goes Off the Deep End; Joe to Chill Max in Ten

NEW YORK, June 22—TONIGHT AT 10 O'CLOCK an expectant hush will fall over the 80,000 witnesses in the Yankees' converted ball park. Referee Arthur Donovan, in his jailer's gray uniform, will beckon the pugilists to the middle of the scaffold and recite the legalistic ritual required by state law.

Austen Lake

Schmeling will wear his stained robe and bath towel reefer. The glare of the overhead lights will accent his scowly features. Louis, in his blue-satin kimono, will send his puddingy countenance toward the floor and blink like a sleepy cat. A moment later the two will return to their corners, dust shoe soles in resin boxes and tug at the ring stanchions, listening for the starting chime.

And less than half an hour later one of the fighters may be on the floor, his face a bloody pulp and his brain reeling as the referee tolls the dread decade.

In venturing the opinion that tonight's fight will be won by a knockout and that Schmeling will be the victim, I am prepared to swallow this prediction as I gulped the one after Max's smashing victory on June 19, 1936.

Picks Schmeling To Whip Louis | Experts Divided On Outcome

By JACK CONWAY

NEW YORK, JUNE 22—I HAVE NEVER SEEN so much confusion among the experts as to the probable winner of a 15-round heavyweight title bout as that caused by the Louis-Max Schmeling go at the Yankee Stadium tonight. A poll of the master minds of the league of wrong guessers shows that 60 per cent of the writers like Louis to win, while the other 40 per cent have gone out on the limb for Schmeling.

Mr. Boston

Even those writers who have picked Louis can advance as many as 100 reasons why the champion may finish up in the place position. The same condition holds true for those carefree individuals who are predicting that Der Max will leave the ring as the only heavyweight who has ever come back to regain the world championship.

The strongest argument being advanced in favor of Louis' winning is his youth. At the age of 24, Joe is at his fistic peak

Louis has one of the fastest left hands in the boxing game. It is as good as the left hand with which Jack Sharkey won the championship from Schmeling six years ago.

In addition, Joe packs a knockout punch in his right duke. Once Louis gets his opponent in trouble and opens fire with both hands, he is one of the greatest fighting machines in the world.

These are the strong points in favor of Louis advanced by the experts and counted upon to make their predictions correct.

If pressed, the experts will admit they are not certain of their choices and that they would not wager more than a ten-cent cigar on their selections. They will add that most anything can happen when two punchers as Louis and Schmeling start tossing leather.

The experts who favor Louis point to the fact Louis does not take a right hand punch on the jaw too well. As if anybody does. The experts who keep warning Joe usually the ones who don't permit the other fellow to crack them on the jaw with right hand drives.

The Louis supporters also point to the fact that Joe may not have forgotten the boxing lesson that if he gives it the punch-crossed-in-the-mouth with his own chances for success.

In passing this warning on to Gene Tunney as their spokesman that Louis gets careless and will be cracked on the jaw with a right hand punch one time too often, they do not know if he is a boxing or prize fight expert. Max Conclusions Tonight.

Schmeling Must Rely Upon His Right Hand

THE EXPERTS at least agree on the fact Schmeling must rely entirely upon his right hand punch if he is to win from Louis tonight. They count out Der Max's left hand with a shrug of the shoulders and point out that in the matter of speed Louis could give his a 40 yard handicap and beat him in a 100 yard dash.

The experts are not so sure they are with quarterback [illegible] That they would not wager more than a [illegible] cigar on their selections. They will add that most anything can happen when two punchers as Louis and Schmeling start tossing leather.

Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney, say the experts, both had quit the boxing game at the age of 33, while Jack Sharkey at the age of 34 was not a match for the youthful Louis.

One must admit the experts have a strong argument on the age question. Old [illegible] up with the ace rays. Such was the case when Barney Ross, a veteran of the ring wars was beaten by Henry Armstrong.

Youth usually [illegible] except when science did play the [illegible] Dundee takes a beating [illegible] of the ninth back and steps up off a relief roll to win [illegible] championship. I told some of the experts and even [illegible] by ordinary rules of ages. I think he is five years [illegible] than he years would indicate.

Max has lived a good [illegible] life. For the past two years every move he has made has been in the direction of a return bout with Joe Louis, when he hopes he can knock out.

Schmeling Looks Physically Fit

I SAW SCHMELING at Speculator, N. Y., and he looks to be physically fit. Outwardly, Max shapes up as well as he did two years ago or back when he fought Jack Sharkey.

As far as boxing knowledge is concerned, I think the German is smarter than he ever was. He does the little things in the ring that mark him as a top heavyweight.

The bout tonight may prove Schmeling is just a [illegible] shell. The first good belt he receives from Louis may knock him apart, and then the noble experts can bang away at their typewriters and tell their readers that the German was just a ghost of his former self, and bowed to Father Time as well as before Joe Louis' terrific punches.

Louis may be more successful in hitting Schmeling tonight than he was two years ago when, may give an entirely different angle to the scrap.

Taking 100 as the rating of the perfect heavyweight, I would give Louis a rating of 90 and Schmeling a rating of 80.

One cannot be sure if bit Louis will fight his true battle. One punch may cause him to drop to a [illegible] rating.

Schmeling won't fight at 79 or 81 rating. He will be a true 80 fighter.

With the odds 11 to 5 in favor of Louis, I must walk away from him on the question of price alone. I don't like odds on favorites in either boxing or racing.

So I am buying a $2 win ticket on Schmeling. Maybe if Louis bombs him a few rights on the jaw, I will wish I had taken the German to place.

Nobody can predict with any degree of certainty what is going to happen in the ring tonight. All I am rooting for is that it be a good fight.

Higgins Sox Trip Hero

DETROIT, June 22—The way [illegible] Foxx and Mickey Cochrane [illegible] wouldn't be surprising to see Old Papa Grove pop up with a perfect game when he goes [illegible] the 12th win of the third [illegible] the series with the Tigers this afternoon.

The batters are hardly finished jotting down Foxx' feat of drawing six walks in a game, when along comes Higgins to erase Tris Speaker's 18-year-old major league mark of nine hits in a row.

There was no question about the popularity of any of the Hug's wallops. All were as clean as a whistle [illegible] Chicago and here Moore was one of the Sox goats earlier in the game. He couldn't field and he couldn't hit and the customers were on him.

Puddles Taunton Special

By MATTHEW KEANEY

BEST BET—PUDDLES, 10TH

FIRST RACE—FUTURITY
(First Half Daily Double)
RED CARD, MORNING MUSIC, IDLE MONEY

P. P.	Dog	Wt.	Owner	Odds
1	Red Card	65	Parke Spencer	3-1
2	Morning Music	59	[illegible]	8-1
3	Idle Money	60	Ben Neal, Jr.	8-1
4	Comic Work	60	John Hitchcock	6-1
5	Parting	56	M. J. Lavan	6-1
6	Miss Peggy M.	63	Cedar Pt. Kennel	8-1
7	Legacy	58	O. Dahlberg	8-1
8	Sky Search	63	G. Lippold, Jr.	8-1

RED CARD'S last from an outside box indicated fleetness of foot. With the red blanket tonight, it should score handily, with MORNING MUSIC the one to beat. IDLE MONEY for small bet.

SECOND RACE—FUTURITY
(Second Half Daily Double)
DODGE TRUCK, LILAC, HELEN O

1	Dodge Truck	66	O. Dahlberg 3-1
2	Lilac	55	A. L. Smart 6-1
3	Helen O.	51	Cedar Pt. Ken. 4-1
4	Penn Rioux	59½	Dan Sullivan 5-1
5	Bar Office	54	M. C. Sparks 6-1
6	Peppy Gear	56½	John Hitchcock 6-1
7	Silent Stranger	58	G. Lippold, Jr. 8-1
8	V. J.	63	Ben Neal, Jr. 8-1

The top one on Puddletown pup should ride the inside and take possession right from the break. LILAC has enough foot to be close with HELEN O. entitled to consideration.

THIRD RACE—5-16 MILE
BY WORD, ANDORA ROBERT RIPLEY

1	By Word	65	Ernest Rhine 3-1
2	Andora	54	Hubert Bryant 6-1
3	Robert Ripley	60	W. Lee Bryant 6-1
4	Alarm	64	Dan Sullivan 3-1
5	Break Up	49	P. F. Brants 6-1
6	Dirty Race	54	Fred Street 6-1
7	Miss Pi Arnold	54	O. A. B. Kennel 8-1
8	Prologue	60	M. T. Dubiel 8-1

In its last BY WORD likewise had the yellow blanket aboard and won with ease. I figure it to repeat tonight with ANDORA the one to beat. ROBERT RIPLEY is a strong money possibility.

FOURTH RACE—FUTURITY
RAZ, SALLY MORAN, SPEEDY TRAFFIC

1	Raz	56½	Hubert Bryant 5-1
2	Sally Moran	52	R. Stephenson 6-1
3	Speedy Traffic	64	Frank Lane 3-1
4	Resistance	72	O. Dahlberg 5-1
5	Supposin	59	Fred Street 6-1
6	Scotch Bonnet	56½	M. J. Lavan 6-1
7	Plain Chord	63	Dan Sullivan 8-1
8	Roman Riddle	61	M. T. Dubiel 8-1

RAZ looks somewhat the best of this field of pups and recording old dogs. With the nine box, his luck in the draw should favor SALLY MORAN'S schemings to relegate an ability to be close with SPEEDY TRAFFIC in the show hair.

FIFTH RACE—5-16 MILE
PAINTOR POINT, DAD, LOU ANN

1	Painter Point	69	Fred Palermo 3-1
2	Dad	57	A. L. Smart 6-1
3	Lou Ann	52	Hubert Bryant 5-1
4	Lee Ray	54	Paul Boone 5-1
5	Miss Bella	64	P. F. Brants 6-1
6	Sweet Gal	57	Ben Neal, Jr. 6-1
7	Set Window	67	W. Lee Bryant 8-1
8	Evening Jay	61	W. B. Hall 8-1

The Palermo greyhound has all the best of the draw here and should score. Though DAD and LOU ANN share dogs right now will make a close race of it.

SIXTH RACE—FUTURITY
RUSTY COLLIER, BRIGHT BALLARD, DICTATOR JOHN

1	Rusty Collier	71	O. A. B. Kennel 3-1
2	Bright Ballard	67	Tom Baird 6-1
3	Dictator John	63	Dan Sullivan 5-1
4	Jim Glenn	61	John Hitchcock 8-1
5	Patrol Escort	66	M. T. Dubiel 8-1
6	Rocky Oak	60	P. Rhine 8-1
7	Don Lash	64	O. Dahlberg 8-1
8	Tax Time	64	Paul Boone 8-1

RUSTY COLLIER, a handy winner in his last six starts, on a trifle but would seem to have sufficient foot to run down BRIGHT BALLARD a threat. Were DICTATOR JOHN a little more adroit in turning placed in the draw, it would be different.

SEVENTH RACE—5-16 MILE
BEN PARK, BLACK GANDER, DREAMS PEPS

1	Ben Lark	67	R. Stephenson 3-1
2	Black Gander	58	G. Lippold, Jr. 6-1
3	Dreams Peps	64	P. F. Brants 5-1
4	Damon Jr.	57	Fred Street 6-1
5	Thomas H.	53	Jess Williams 8-1
6	Sweetie Grant	57	Ben Neal, Jr. 8-1
7	Gretchen Fay	67	J. M. Kilpatrick 8-1
8	Bright Reason	68	Tom Baird 8-1

BEN PARK should repeat his recent win but only after a brilliant battle with BLACK GANDER and DREAMS PEPS. The latter won its last outing and though meeting up figures to be in the money.

EIGHTH RACE—FUTURITY
CALLED KAIL, MUDDLER, PASS DOWN

1	Called Kail	67	M. C. Sparks 3-1
2	Muddler	71	R. Stephenson 6-1
3	Pass Down	51	P. F. Brants 5-1
4	Village Loss	56	Dow Kennel 5-1
5	Superviewed	62	W. B. Hall 8-1
6	Alla Fame	50	O. R. Wohlauf 8-1
7	Lena Lee	59	Art Wilson 8-1
8	Favorite Lassie	50½	A. Rhodes 8-1

From this position I fancy CALLED KAIL's chances highly in this number though MUDDLER can get up there if the breaks go his way at all. PASS DOWN should be in the money.

NINTH RACE—FUTURITY
RURAL CRIER, COURT CRITIC, MUTTON BROTH

1	Rural Crier	70	M. C. Sparks 3-1
2	Court Critic	66	Art Wilson 3-1
3	Mutton Broth	66	J. J. Arute 6-1
4	Country Darling	66	W. B. Hall 5-1
5	Understudy	66	O. Dahlberg 6-1
6	Silver Lass	55	G. Lippold, Jr. 8-1
7	Sport Cursed	65	A. Rhodes 8-1
8	Sam Clipper	70	O. A. B. Kennel 8-1

RURAL CRIER runs well from most advantageous position and with no misfortune should nip a close one from its arch rival COURT CRITIC which won last out. MUTTON BROTH would prove hard to keep out of the money.

TENTH RACE—5-16 MILE
PUDDLES, RURAL LADY, MIRACULOUS

1	Puddles	69	Cedar Pt. Ken. 3-1
2	Rural Lady	57	Art Wilson 4-1
3	Miraculous	54	M. C. Sparks 4-1
4	Weaver	54	Tom Baird 5-1
5	Emperor of Fares	61	C. A. Rhodes 5-1
6	Smash a Further	65	R. Stephenson 5-1
7	Lord Clark	54	Fred Paterson 8-1
8	Slow Darling	54	M. J. Lavan 8-1

Here's another light fit with PUDDLES the best 3 on the inside. RURAL LADY, if not bothered, should make most of the pace, though MIRACULOUS could take all of it.

Pennant Far From McKechnie's Mind

NEW YORK, June 22 (AP)—There may be dancing in the streets of Cincinnati and mass cheering by the experts, but Deacon Bill McKechnie, the wise and wary manager of the second-place Reds, isn't even thinking about the National League pennant.

"Sure the club is improved," said Bill just after his boys had cuffed the Giants around, 6 to 2, and sliced the New York league lead to a game and a half, "You can't add a pitcher like Johnny Vander Meer, a first baseman like Buck McCormick and an outfielder like Harry Craft to a club and expect it to slump. They are real ball players.

"But I'm not thinking pennant. We want the club up in the fight and I don't think we can miss that. And in a wide open race anything can happen. Oh, we'll be up there, but . don't want the boys too confident."

McCORMICK BIG NOISE

Which seemed to indicate the Deacon isn't so far from pennant thoughts at that. Where did he think his team had improved most?

"Well, I'm high on McCormick. I don't see how he can miss the first base job in the All-Star game. Hitting like 60 and playing a swell game in the field. He's good now and he'll be better."

About the Reds' outfield, peopled by the speedy Craft, the equally fast Dusty Cooke and two hard hitters, Ival Goodman and Wally Berger.

"You fellows don't give that Craft his due," said Bill with some heat. "He can go and get 'em and he's starting to hit that apple. I'm glad to have Berger playing for me, too. He always hit well for me in Boston and I think he'll do as well here. Goodman and Cooke have both improved tremendously, too."

LOMBARDI ON JOB

"Now don't ask me about Vander Meer," continued the deacon. "He's just a fine young pitcher at the start of an unusually bright career. I don't know about any hocus pocus that made him into a great pitcher."

The boys in the dugouts were saying that Ernie Lombardi was ripping down the fences on his way back.

"Where's he been?" inquired Bill.

"Seems to me he's always been a pretty valuable citizen. He's hitting and he's catching. Don't forget he handled both those no-hit games of Vander Meer's like a master and picked a couple of guys off base."

Cardinals Bush League Outfit

By BILL GRIMES

When every a club admits to having more than 1000 ball players on its major and minor league club rosters and cannot produce a better team than Frankie Frisch has under his wing, there something very screwy somewhere . . . If they disposed of Joe Medwick the Cardinals couldn't win in a Cape Cod League . . . In fact, a majority of the current major leaguers would have had trouble holding their jobs in Class C leagues 10 years ago . . . Bob Quinn's scouts have been telling him that there isn't an outfielder in any Class AA league who can make the major league grade . . . As soon as the Bees start their next trip, President Quinn is going on a scouting trip . . . If he doesn't come up with something then you can put it in your book that the scouts are right.

Joe Medwick

Apparently Harry Bloomfield took umbrage at my statement that he was softening up by deserting the canvas for the gasoline . . . Harry is back with the windjammers, racing with Harry Neyes on the Gypsy in the Eight Meter Class . . . Harry Bloomfield's presence on the Gypsy cost Eddie Gabriel a chance to pilot his Marbett into a scoring position last week . . . The Marbett got off to a great start, but while Skipper Gabriel was watching the Gypsy all but two of the Eight Meter crafts left him astern.

Vince Di Maggio may become a left hand hitter . . . In batting practice, he hits from the port side . . . And, he doesn't look too tough

Schmeling Flies From Camp

NEWARK, N. J., June 22 (INS)—With Dick Merrill of transatlantic fame at the controls, Max Schmeling arrived here by plane from Schenectady, N. Y., and left immediately by automobile to spend the night quietly with friends in New York while awaiting his challenge for the heavyweight championship against Joe Louis tonight.

When news spread that the German former champion would fly to New York, instead of motor, a crowd quickly gathered at the airport here to await his appearance.

The ex-titleholder made the plane passage in defiance of Promoter Mike Jacobs who had ordered him to travel by train or auto.

Helen Moody Wins in Straight Sets

Budge Victor On Court

WIMBLEDON, Eng., June 22 (AP)—After a three-year lapse, Helen Wills Moody opened her bid for an eighth Wimbledon tennis championship today by eliminating Mrs. Harry C. Hopman of Australia, 6—3, 6—4, in a second-round match.

It was Mrs. Moody's first appearance in the championships since she defeated Helen Jacobs in a thrilling three-set duel for the 1935 women's singles' crown, and a capacity crowd gave her a tremendous ovation.

WON EASILY

The veteran Californian, obviously saving her strength wherever it was possible, had no worries in her match with Mrs. Hopman. She won the first set in routine fashion and, after trailing, 1—3, in the second set, quickly squared at 3—3 and took command from there to the finish.

Mrs. Moody's victory came after Alice Marble, Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan and Dorothy May Bundy had advanced in the women's division and Don Budge, Gene Mako and Owen Anderson in the men's.

Miss Jacobs, slated to play a second-round match against Joan Ingram of England, fainted in the Wimbledon clubhouse and was taken immediately to a hotel under the care of a physician. Miss Jacobs has been ailing for some time from an injured nerve in her right arm. Her match with Miss Ingram was put over until tomorrow.

Don Budge settled into his best tennis stride after a shaky start today and whipped Henry Billington, Berkshire farmer, 7—5, 6—1, 6—1, in the second round of the all-England championships.

Still troubled by a sore throat, the American-British-French-Australian singles king was listless and uncertain at the start.

Budge, after spotting the Englishman a 3—0 lead, pulled to 2—3, but lost the next two games to trail 2—5. He held his service with difficulty in the eighth game, but got a break when Billington twice double-faulted in the ninth. This left the score at 4—5 against him, but the red-headed Californian looked like a champion from there on and quickly won the next three games in a row.

Billington definitely had shot his bolt and offered only slight resistance thereafter.

Henner Henkel of Germany, regarded as Budge's only real rival, easily disposed of M. D. Delóford of England, 6—3, 6—1, 6—3, in a second-round match.

Gene Mako eliminated Camille E. Malfroy of New Zealand, 4—6, 6—3, 6—4, 4—6, 6—2, and Owen Anderson put out M. Caikos of Hungary, 6—2, 6—0, 6—4.

Yachting Fleet Hits Thick Fog

NEWPORT, R. I., June 22 (AP)—A Bermuda-bound fleet of 43 small sailing craft encountered thick fog today 100 miles out of Newport.

The clear weather and 20-mile breeze that favored the start yesterday had disappeared, and the murk quickly scattered the contestants in the cruising club of America's biennial 635-mile ocean race.

The Coast Guard cutter Cayuga, accompanying the fleet, radioed it was making five and one-half knots convoying the craft.

Miss Jacobs' Match Postponed

WIMBLEDON, Eng., June 22 (INS)—Helen Jacobs, American tennis star, fainted en route to the center court here today for her match against Jane Ingram of England.

Miss Jacobs recently strained a nerve in her right arm which kept her out of play during some of the tournaments prior to Wimbledon. She collapsed shortly after leaving her dressing-room and was carried back to the clubhouse. The match was postponed.

Badger Solves Caddie Problem

Hoping to clarify the status of the caddies, which has been muddied since the issuance of the U. S. G. A. statement, President E. B. Badger of the M. G. A. said:

"We have been asked for an interpretation and explanation of the effect of the ruling issued by the executive committee of the United States Golf Association relative to caddies, caddie masters and assistants to professionals in so far as it affects the play of caddies in amateur competition and particularly in our Junior Championship.

"The rule is obviously not intended to allow a caddie to temporarily cease employment just before an amateur contest, enter said contest, then re-enter employment. The intent, therefore, must be the governing factor. The rule is clear that while employed in the classifications above set forth, one so employed is not eligible to play in amateur competition; therefore, The Massachusetts Golf Association ruling of last year entitling the eight lowest medal scores in the Caddie Championship to enter the Junior Championship, must of necessity be withdrawn.

"Any caddie, however, who is also a junior member of a member club of The Massachusetts Golf Association and who certifies that he has ceased caddying for hire prior to the closing date of the entries in the Junior Championship, and that it is not his intention to re-engage in such occupation for hire, shall be eligible to play in said championship.

Louis Predicts Early Knockout

battle in the matter of receipts.

If the show does a million dollars, it will be the first time a heavyweight match has drawn that much money since Jack Dempsey fought Jack Sharkey in this city in 1927. That bout drew $1,083,000.

Joe Jacobs, Schmeling's manager, who has been denied a second's license, says there is an organized plot to beat the German.

"I know I could be of assistance to Schmeling if I were in his corner," declared Jacobs. "I do not believe Schmeling or myself has been treated fairly.

"Max was anxious to have me in his corner tonight. If the bout goes the limit of 15 rounds they will give Louis a gift decision. Max must knock Louis out to win and I think he will do so."

Louis predicts he will stop Schmeling in the early rounds, while Schmeling, very confident, refuses to make any statement other than his belief he will win.

DONOVAN REFEREE

Max Machon and Doc Casey, who have been with Schmeling in all of his American bouts, will be in his corner tonight.

Jack Blackburn, old time boxer and trainer of Louis, will direct the champion with the assistance of Julian Black.

Arthur Donovan is expected to be named referee. Donovan is the ace referee in New York, and has a splendid reputation for ability and honesty. I believe Donovan will give both heavyweights a fair deal.

The official weighing in was set for 1 o'clock at the Garden. The original schedule called for the weighing in at 12 o'clock, but the time was changed to permit members of the boxing commission to attend the funeral this morning of Deputy Boxing Commissioner Dan Skillings.

Dog Solon's Dad Dies in Tennessee

WEST SPRINGFIELD, June 22—T. L. Gregory, presiding judge at the Crescent Kennel Club, was notified of th death of his father at Elzowah, Tennessee, and left immediately by plane to be present at the funeral.

Gregory is serving his second season as presiding judge at the local track.

Germany Agog Over Fight

BERLIN, June 22 (AP)—All Germany—from little Hans and Gretchen to Papa and Mama Schmidt — is confident "Unser Maxe" Schmeling will take Joe Louis' heavyweight crown.

Fight talk is on everybody's lips, and, although the championship fight in New York will take place in Berlin's early morning hours, about 3 a. m., tomorrow, thousands of Germans are sure to have their ears glued to radios for the blow-by-blow description.

German fans leave only one choice for Maxie—a comeback. His German admirers—and there are millions from Reichsfuehrer Hitler down—hate the thought of defeat.

DEFEAT A DISGRACE

Newspapers do not say it but it is tacitly understood that a Louis victory would be taken here as a disgrace from the Nazi racial viewpoint. Some sports followers predict oblivion would be Schmeling's punishment.

Anny Ondra, movie actress-wife of the "Black Uhlan," waited with "absolute optimism." But she will not follow the fight by radio—because "the excitement works on my nerves too much."

Max has written to her regularly and frequently and also has telephoned, she said, but "he talks only a tiny bit about boxing—he wants to hear something else from me besides shop."

Wage Tax Ban Voted By Senate

The bill that would free Massachusetts' 1,250,000 workers from contributing 1 per cent of their wages every week to the state unemployment compensation fund passed the state Senate today under suspension of the rules.

Passed as the Senate cleared up for its approaching adjournment, the bill would suspend the contributions for one year, beginning July 1.

A voice vote sent it on to the House.

There is a surplus of $45,000,000 in the present state fund. Senator Arthur W. Hollis of Newton favored the measure and Senator Laurence Curtis of Boston opposed it.

Boy Lifer Has New Day In Court

SOUTH PARIS, Me., June 22—Paul N. Dwyer, self-accused slayer of Dr. and Mrs. James G. Littlefield, today had a new day in court—an unusual grand jury appearance which friends maintain may bring him freedom.

High Sheriff Fernando Francis, the man credited with having uncovered the new evidence that reopened the case, was among witnesses today, after Assistant Attorney-General Ralph Ingalls finished his outline to the jury.

The first witness was Lieutenant Leon Shepard of the criminal investigation bureau of the state police.

Shepard explained in detail the

Envoy Not To Receive Degree

Joseph P. Kennedy, ambassador to the Court of St. James, attended Harvard class day festivities at the Stadium today, but will miss Harvard commencement exercises tomorrow in order to be with his second oldest son, John, who is ill.

Outlining his plans, during a press interview at the Ritz Carlton hotel, the ambassador said he definitely would not receive an honorary degree from Harvard.

He will not even see his eldest son, Joseph, Jr., be graduated tomorrow, he told reporters.

GOING TO CAPE

Instead, he said, he would spend tomorrow at the Kennedy summer home in Hyannis, visiting with John, who is recovering from a stomach ailment.

Press representatives were waiting for Ambassador Kennedy when his train pulled into South Station, with him still comfortably asleep in his Pullman compartment.

But not until he was installed in the suite reserved for him on the top floor of the Ritz Carlton hotel did the nation's No. 1 overseas diplomat consent to talk for publication.

SPIKES REPORT

Then, with a directness characteristic of the man who will always be plain Joe Kennedy to old friends of his native East Boston, he first spiked the long-circulated "Har-
